A new building was then built, and the library moved to its current location in 1994. Collection The collection of the library consists of scholarly monographs, serials, newspapers, dissertations, technical textbooks, and electronic resources. As of 2010, the electronic resources include an integrated library system with more than 300,000 bibliographic records, as well as more than 500,000 items from the university's library holdings, including a large number of electronic resources, including DSpace and Shared ePrints. In 2006, the library moved from card catalogs to electronic catalogs. Transport The library is located at the centre of the campus.
